Lee Mun Wah is a Chinese American who offers his story in the hopes that it will open minds and open hearts. I invite you to Listen (16:26)...

Listen to find out why he hates his American name, Gary.
Listen to know why he threw away his favorite home cooked lunch in grade school.
Listen for the questions he wishes teachers, mentors, friends, neighbors and others would have asked him in his growing up years and even know.
Listen to his story of how walking home with a friend one day changed a childhood fear his father gave him.

Parting thought: Take the time to walk each other home.

Jennifer A. Goins
Chairman's Administrative Assistant, Michael S. Krangel, PhD
Program Coordinator, Graduate Studies
Duke University, Department of Immunology
Campus Box 3010, Durham, NC 27710
(919) 684-3578 (p), (919) 684-8982 (f)